

RV Alliance America Expands Coverage

Bellevue, Washington—RV Alliance America (RVAA), the long-standing nationwide leader in specialty-RV insurance, now offers insurance for boats, motorcycles, snowmobiles, personal watercraft and ATVs, in addition to motorhomes, travel trailers, fifth-wheels, bus conversions, campers, medium-duty trucks, autos and pick-ups. Already the largest specialty-recreation insurance agency in the country, RVAA's expansion allows it to offer recreation enthusiasts even more coverage.

Must-have specialty features are available at competitive prices, features such as: Total Loss Replacement, which replaces a total loss with the latest model (new-for-old) or, if not available, a comparable model; Agreed Value Coverage, which pays the amount originally spent or the appraised value, with no deduction for depreciation and no deductible; and Unlimited Towing and Roadside/On-Water Assistance.

RVAA has built its business on matching its product to its customers' needs, from introducing new products to offering new policy features. The availability of new coverages continues that tradition. Managing Director Susan Corscadden comments: "Our customers are recreation enthusiasts—we want to make getting insurance for all of their recreation needs as easy and hassle-free as it can be. Offering specialty, top-notch coverage for all of our customers' vehicles is one way we can accomplish that."

In addition to recreation vehicle coverage, RVAA also offers stand-alone umbrella liability coverage, which protects policyholders' assets with liability coverage that extends beyond the basic coverage of a homeowner's vehicle. A medical evacuation plan, ME Plus, is also available, which covers travelers for unexpected medical expenses when they have a medical emergency, such as: a helicopter transfer, transport of the patient home, transport of the RV home, family-member visitation, and pet care. •

Bellevue, Washington-based RV Alliance America has offered specialty-RV insurance for nearly four decades.
